The NAV drops in direct relationship to the dividend paid, plus or minus market movement. For example, if a fund has a $10.00 NAV and pays a $0.25 dividend, the stated NAV will be $9.75 if there is no market movement. The day's market movement will be added or subtracted to the $9.75 NAV. The Shareholder will either receive more shares of the fund if dividend reinvestment is selected or take the distribution in cash.

Interest Income To Corporate Shareholders

163(J) INTEREST DIVIDEND

The Treasury Department and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) have finalized regulations that permit regulated investment companies (RICs) to pass through interest income to corporate shareholders for purposes of determining such corporations' interest expense limitation under section 163(j). The final regulations provide a RIC's corporate shareholders with interest income rather than ordinary dividend income, potentially increasing the amount of interest expense the shareholders can deduct under the new limits implemented by the 2017 tax legislation commonly referred to as the "Tax Cuts and Jobs Act."

Listed below are the percentages of total ordinary income distributed by the fund during the 2022 calendar year (Box 1a Total on Form 1099) that can be treated as a 163(j) Interest Dividend.
